Combining complementary strengths

Built's CEO, Construction, David Paterson, said: "Sacyr brings deep global experience in delivering large scale social infrastructure and access to international supply chains. Combined with Built's national capability and digital-first construction, we offer a delivery approach that provides certainty, scale, and community benefit."

"Australia's infrastructure pipeline demands delivery teams that can handle complexity with confidence, combining scale and innovation to ensure projects are completed efficiently and to the highest standards", Paterson added.

Strategic milestone

A priority goal in Sacyr's 2024-2027 Strategic Plan is to increase its project portfolio in English-speaking countries.

Sacyr first entered the Australian market in 2008 through its water Branch, Sacyr Water, with the construction, operation and maintenance project of Binningup's Southern Seawater Desalination Plant. Since then, the company has also developed several water and waste treatment facilities. This alliance represents further progress towards the company's expansion goals and strengthens its foundation for growth in the region.
